

PRESS RELEASE

Sarah Poulton has joined Esaote as a Clinical Applications Specialist covering the Northern part of the UK. With an increasing demand for Esaote's ultrasound systems and a continually growing customer base Sarah will provide dedicated support on the full range of Esaote's ultrasound range in both the NHS and private sectors.

Sarah trained as a Radiographer in Sheffield and has twenty years' experience in clinical ultrasound, having most recently worked at Nottingham University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust.

Sarah commented "I have had some wonderful opportunities throughout my career being supported early on by a progressive and committed group of Sonographers and Consultant Radiologists to whom I owe my continued enthusiasm and desire to continually improve. Esaote's ultrasound products recognise the importance of excellence and reliability in a continually changing clinical environment and I am very excited to be joining such a committed and positive team".

Esaote is one of the top ten global medical imaging companies specialising in ultrasound, MRI technology and healthcare IT, use of which has been growing for many years, helping to speed up and improve diagnosis.
